CLOSING

HANDOFF: Signature + Referral Ask

Finding Your Personal Friction Point

- Every rep has one stage where their conversion drops — this is their Friction Point
- Getting in the door (Prospecting): fix the hook script and opener — Day 2
- Getting to the kitchen table (Discovery): fix the transition and temperature check — Day 3
- Getting past the proposal (Presenting): fix the simplicity — Grandmother Test — Day 4
- Getting the signature (Closing): fix the assumptive language and the ACAC sequence — Days 5–6

📋 TRAINER NOTE: Have reps self-identify their Friction Point in writing before Day 7 ends. This becomes the focus of their first week of manager coaching. The rep who knows their Friction Point can improve deliberately. The one who doesn't will struggle mysteriously.

The One-Call Close Mentality

- 'Letting it breathe' is a comfort strategy for reps, not a sales strategy for homeowners — 72-hour close rates are 50–70% lower than same-day
- Momentum is built inside the appointment — every pause, every delay resets the emotional state to zero
- The homeowner's most confident version of themselves is sitting across from you right now
- If the deal needs to 'breathe,' it usually needs a better Discovery or a clearer Bridge — not time

📋 TRAINER NOTE: This is not a pressure-to-close message — it is a preparation message. Reps who need to 'follow up' usually missed something during the appointment. Day 7 should re-emphasize that the best closer is the one who runs a better appointment, not a better callback.

🎯 ACTIVITY

Activity: The Flow Chart Creation

OBJECTIVE: Draw your personal sales process with transition scripts at every handoff point

1. On a whiteboard or large paper, draw the 4 stages of the relay race with arrows between each
2. At each arrow, write the exact TRANSITION PHRASE you will use to move from one stage to the next
3. Mark your Friction Point with a red circle — this is your personal Day 1 improvement target
4. Partner review: Does every transition sound natural and confident, or does it sound like you're asking permission?
5. Deliverable: A laminated 'Sales Process One-Sheet' for the field clipboard — one page, all transitions, all stages

MODULE 7.2

The First Week Blueprint: The 7-7-7 Strategy

70 Doors a Day. 7 Appointments. 7 Proposals. The Law of Large Numbers.

MODULE 7.2 — THE 7-7-7 STRATEGY

The Activity That Guarantees Your First Deal

1. The 7-7-7 Targets: why these numbers make a deal mathematically inevitable
2. The Power Hours schedule: time-blocking for maximum selling time
3. Territory Saturation: Cloverleafing to build neighborhood authority
4. Your Week 1 Battle Plan — filled out before you leave today

The Law of Large Numbers: Why 7-7-7 Works

Doors knocked per day	70
Days per week in the field	5
Total weekly doors	350
Industry average: 1 appointment per 10 doors	= 35 appts
Your target (tighter area, better hook): 1 per 20	= 17 appts
Industry average: 1 proposal per 3 appointments	≈ 5–6 props
Industry average: 1 deal per 3 proposals	≈ 2 deals

At 70 doors/day × 5 days, you mathematically generate 1–2 deals per week just from cold doors. Add referrals and follow-ups — and your pipeline triples.

📋 TRAINER NOTE: 70 DOORS → 7 APPTS → 7 PROPOSALS → YOUR FIRST DEAL IN WEEK 1

The Power Hours: A Rep's Ideal Day

7:00–9:00 AM	Pre-Game & Admin CRM updates, follow-up calls to yesterday's warm leads, territory map review, attire check
9:00–11:00 AM	Warm Follow-Up Call every Hot and Warm lead from the previous 48 hours — these are the most convertible
11:00 AM–2:00 PM	Area Prep Drive the territory, note solar installs, identify ideal streets — 'warm' door approach
2:00–8:00 PM	THE GRIND 🔥 Prime time for doors and appointments. Homeowners are home. Energy must be at 100%. No admin.
8:00–9:00 PM	Nightly Audit Log all contacts in CRM. Count doors/sets. Identify today's Losing Objection. Set tomorrow's first task.

📋 TRAINER NOTE: The Grind window is sacred — no administrative tasks, no phone calls that aren't appointments or closes, no CRM during it. Admin that bleeds into prime time is the #1 activity killer in the first month.

Territory Saturation: The Cloverleaf Strategy

- When a lead is generated, immediately knock the 5 houses adjacent: 2 left, 2 right, 1 across the street
- Neighborhood Authority Script: 'I'm working with your neighbors at [number] to eliminate their electric bill — I wanted to see if I could do the same for you while my team is already in the area'
- The psychology: local social proof in real time — you are no longer a cold stranger, you are the neighborhood's solar rep
- Goal: own 3 blocks before moving to the next grid — 'Saturation' closes 2–3× more deals per door knocked than scattered territory

DIALOGUE

Rep (at next door):
Hi — I'm actually already working with the Garcia family right up the street to bring their electric bill to basically zero. I wanted to pop over while I was in the area to see if your bill is anything like theirs. Is yours running pretty high too?

📋 TRAINER NOTE: Cloverleafing is the single most effective territory tactic in solar door-to-door sales. Reps who don't use it leave 60% of their neighborhood's potential revenue on the table.

🎯 ACTIVITY

Activity: Calendar Deployment

OBJECTIVE: Lock your first 7 days of activity into a real calendar before you leave this room

1. Open your physical or digital calendar right now
2. Block 2:00–8:00 PM as 'GRIND — NO ADMIN' for 5 days
3. Block 8:00–9:00 PM as 'NIGHTLY AUDIT' for 5 days
4. Assign a specific territory (street names or grid) to each day — no territory ambiguity
5. Deliverable: A completed 'Week 1 Battle Plan' with territories, time blocks, and a written 70-door daily target

25 MIN

MODULE 7.3

Building Daily Discipline: The Professional Routine

Standard Operating Procedures for a High-Performance Rep

MODULE 7.3 — DAILY DISCIPLINE

The Rep Who Controls Their Day Controls Their Income

1. The Pre-Game Ritual: what happens before the first door
2. Managing the Mid-Day Slump: the 5-Minute Reset
3. The Nightly Audit: self-coaching through data
4. The Professional Standards Contract

The Professional Routine: Pre-Game vs. Nightly Audit

🌅 PRE-GAME RITUAL (Every Morning)

- Vehicle clean and professional — it's your office
- iPad fully charged, proposals pre-loaded for the territory
- Attire inspection: clean branded polo, name badge, quality shoes
- 10 minutes of intentional state management: motivation audio, wins from yesterday
- Review today's territory and first 5 doors on the map
- Visualize: 'I will set 3 appointments today'

🌙 NIGHTLY AUDIT (Every Evening)

- Log every door contact in CRM with active notes
- Count: How many doors? How many sets? How many runs?
- Identify today's Losing Objection — the one you struggled with most
- Write one specific thing to improve tomorrow
- Set the first CRM task for tomorrow's follow-ups
- Read your Resilience Script before sleeping

📋 TRAINER NOTE: Elite reps have a ritual. Average reps wing it. The pre-game and nightly audit take 30 minutes combined — and they're the difference between a $60K year and a $180K year.

The 5-Minute Reset: Breaking the Slump

- Every rep hits a mid-day wall — 3–5 consecutive rejections, a no-show appointment, a long stretch of no-answers
- The Reset sequence: (1) Get back in your car. (2) Sit quietly for 60 seconds. (3) Do 10 deep breaths. (4) Listen to 3 minutes of motivational audio. (5) Step out — you are a new person.
- Physical movement is the fastest state-changer: walk briskly to the next block before knocking again
- 'The next door has never seen me. They have no idea I just had 5 rejections. They only see who walks up right now.'

📋 TRAINER NOTE: The 5-Minute Reset is not a luxury — it is a professional protocol. The rep who resets consistently closes their 6th door at the same rate as their 1st. The rep who doesn't reset closes their 6th door at 20% of their 1st.

🎯 ACTIVITY

Activity: Ritual Design

OBJECTIVE: Write your morning and evening routines — then commit to them with a partner

25 MIN

1. Write your specific Pre-Game Ritual (6 steps minimum) — include the state management audio you will listen to
2. Write your specific Nightly Audit (5 questions minimum) — this becomes your nightly self-coaching session
3. Share both with a partner — they are now your accountability contact for Week 1
4. Exchange numbers: agree to text each other your door count by 9:00 PM every field day
5. Deliverable: A 'Professional Standards' contract — signed by you, witnessed by your partner, kept by your manager

MODULE 7.4

Rejection Resilience: The 'No' as a Metric

Your Net Worth Is Hidden Inside the 'No'

MODULE 7.4 — REJECTION RESILIENCE

SW-SW-SW-WH: Some Will, Some Won't, So What? Who's Next?

1. The SW-SW-SW-WH Rule: emotional detachment as a professional skill
2. The 'No' Commission: calculating the dollar value of every rejection
3. The 3-Door Rule: never letting a bad interaction poison the next
4. Your personal Resilience Script

Calculating Your 'No' Commission

$3K

Average Commission

per signed deal in solar

÷ 30

Average Nos Per Deal

industry benchmark for new reps

=$100

Per Door Slammed

every rejection literally pays you

Goal: 30

Collect the Nos

to earn your first $3,000

📋 TRAINER NOTE: Reframe this with reps: every time a door slams, they 'earned' another $100 toward their commission. When they have 30 slams, a deal is due. This makes rejection feel like progress — because mathematically, it is.

The SW-SW-SW-WH Rule: Detachment as Professionalism

- Some Will. Some Won't. So What? Who's Next?
- The 'No' at the door is not a rejection of YOU — it is a mismatch in timing, bill size, mood, or life circumstance
- The professional rep treats each door like a blank canvas — no prior history, no expectation, full presence
- The amateur rep carries every 'No' to the next door — and the homeowner can feel it immediately

DIALOGUE

Rep (internal, after a rude rejection):
That person was having a hard day. It had nothing to do with solar or me. I just gave myself $100. Next door.
Rep (external, 30 seconds later at the next door):
Hey — how are you doing? I'm actually in the neighborhood working with a few families on their electric bills...

📋 TRAINER NOTE: The fastest way to improve a rep's door rate is to improve their emotional reset speed. A rep who can go from slammed door to high-energy opener in 30 seconds closes 2–3× more than one who carries the rejection for 10 minutes.

The 3-Door Rule: Never Contaminate the Next

- After any bad interaction, the next 3 doors are the most important doors of the day
- Rule: you cannot let the bad door affect doors +1, +2, or +3 — or you lose 3 doors of potential
- The Flush Technique: before walking to the next driveway, stop. Exhale audibly. Roll your shoulders back. Reset your face. Walk.
- Physical anchor: some reps tap the back of their left hand twice — a self-programmed reset signal — before every door

📋 TRAINER NOTE: The Flush Technique sounds simple but must be practiced. Role-play it in the room: trainer delivers a rude rejection, rep physically flushes, and walks to the next 'door' with a genuine smile within 10 seconds. Timed.

🎯 ACTIVITY

Activity: Rejection Roleplay + Resilience Script

OBJECTIVE: Demonstrate emotional resilience under increasing verbal pressure

25 MIN

1. Trainer plays an increasingly rude homeowner — from mildly dismissive to outright hostile
2. Rep must: receive the rejection graciously, say 'Thank you, have a great day,' walk away, and RESET within 10 seconds
3. The reset must be physical AND vocal — shoulders back, fresh tone, genuine energy at the next door
4. Rep who breaks character (gets defensive, rushes, shows frustration) starts over
5. Deliverable: Each rep writes their personal 'Resilience Script' — what they say to themselves after a tough door — and reads it aloud

MODULE 7.5

Pipeline Management: The Million Dollar Dashboard

If It Isn't in the CRM, It Doesn't Exist

MODULE 7.5 — PIPELINE MANAGEMENT

Your CRM Is Your Business. Treat It Like One.

1. Active CRM notes that capture motivation, not just contact info
2. Lead categorization: Hot, Warm, Cold — and what to do with each
3. The Saturday Pipeline Clean-Up routine
4. The quality of your notes determines the quality of your follow-up

Active Notes: Capturing Motivation, Not Just Data

- Bad note: 'Call back Tuesday' → tells you nothing about why they might buy
- Good note: 'Maria — $310 bill, worried about rate hike before daughter starts college in 2 years. Husband hesitant but interested in ROI. Call back Tuesday at 6 PM when both are home.'
- Active notes capture: pain (the bill), goal (protecting the family), objection (husband's hesitation), and timing (Tuesday 6 PM)
- Rule: if you can read the note and immediately know what to say on the call — it's a good note

DIALOGUE

Rep (reading bad note on callback):
Hi Maria, just following up...
Rep (reading good note on callback):
Hi Maria — I was thinking about your situation with the rate hike coming before Emma starts college. I found something I wanted to walk you through — do you have 5 minutes?

📋 TRAINER NOTE: 'Call back Tuesday' is a task. 'Maria — $310 bill, college fund worry, husband needs ROI math' is a sales roadmap. The rep who calls with context closes at 3× the rate of the rep who calls with none.

Lead Categorization: Hot, Warm, Cold — and the Protocol

🔥 HOT LEADS

- Presentation given — had the numbers in front of them
- Stalled on a specific, identified objection
- Contact within 24 hours every time
- Lead with: recap the last conversation + address the stall

🌤️ WARM LEADS

- Appointment was set but not yet run
- Homeowner was engaged but not ready for a sit
- Contact within 48 hours
- Lead with: value add (rate news, neighbor story)

❄️ COLD LEADS

- Door knock — no set, left card or pamphlet
- Minimal engagement, no specific interest confirmed
- Contact within 7 days
- Lead with: neighborhood update or follow-up hook

📋 PIPELINE CLEAN-UP

- Every Saturday: review all active leads
- Update every status — no limbo leads
- Set specific tasks with due dates for Week 2
- Archive leads that are 30+ days with no engagement

📋 TRAINER NOTE: Hot leads are perishable. A Hot lead not followed up in 24 hours becomes a Warm lead. A Warm lead not followed up in 48 hours becomes Cold. A Cold lead not followed up in 7 days becomes a missed commission.

🎯 ACTIVITY

Activity: CRM Data Entry Drill

OBJECTIVE: Convert 5 messy field notes into clean, active CRM entries with follow-up tasks

20 MIN

1. Trainer hands out 5 'messy scrap paper' homeowner notes (handwritten, incomplete, vague)
2. Each rep must enter all 5 into the CRM with: full contact info, active motivation note, lead temperature, an a specific follow-up task with date and time
3. Manager reviews the quality of notes live — passes entries that meet the Active Note standard, fails entrie that say 'call back'
4. Time pressure: 15 minutes for all 5 entries
5. Deliverable: A certified-clean CRM profile with all Week 1 leads entered and Week 2 tasks scheduled

MODULE 7.6

The Follow-Up System: Converting the 'Not Ready'

Not Now Is Often a Yes in 30 Days

MODULE 7.6 — THE FOLLOW-UP SYSTEM

80% of Solar Deals Are Won on the 5th–12th Touch

1. The 5-Touch Rule: the Day 1, 2, 4, 7, 14 cadence
2. Value-added follow-up: never 'just checking in'
3. The Break-Up text: using the Take-Away to revive ghost leads
4. The 14-day Ghost Lead template

The 14-Day Follow-Up Cadence

Day 1 — Phone Call

Recap Call

- Same-day recap of th proposal
- 'Did anything stand o
- Address if new object surfaces

Day 2 — Text

Value Add

- News clip: rate hike story
- 'Thought you'd want to see this'
- No ask — just value

Day 4 — Email

Social Proof

- Local neighbor's bill photo
- 'The Smiths just went live'
- Soft check-in only

Day 7 — Call

Urgency

- Install queue update
- Rate change window
- Permission to Be Frank?

Day 14 — Text

Break-Up

- 'Solar may not be priority'
- 'Taking you off active list'
- Fear of Loss trigger

📋 TRAINER NOTE: The Day 14 Break-Up text has one of the highest response rates in the entire follow-up sequence. When leads have gone dark, the fear of losing access to information or the offer is often stronger than their inertia.

The Value-Added Follow-Up: Never 'Just Checking In'

- 'Just checking in' is the most passive, most ignored follow-up phrase in sales — never use it
- Every touch must deliver something of value: local utility news, a neighbor's install photo, a rate change alert
- Template: 'Hey [Name] — I just saw that [Utility] got approval for a rate hike starting [Month]. Wanted to make sure you had this before it affects your bill. Let me know if you want to revisit the numbers.'
- The 'Neighborhood Update' is the most powerful: it uses local social proof without pressure

DIALOGUE

Rep (Day 2 text):
Hey Maria — saw this just came out this morning: [Utility] got approval for another rate increase starting July. Wanted to make sure you had it before it affects your bill. Happy to run updated numbers if useful.
Maria:
Oh wow, I actually didn't know about that. Can we talk this week?

The Break-Up Text: The Take-Away That Revives Ghost Leads

- For leads that go dark after Day 7: 'It seems like solar might not be a priority for you right now, and that's completely okay. I'll take you off my active list so I'm not clogging your inbox.'
- Include a soft hook: 'If anything changes with your bill situation or the incentives, feel free to reach out — I'll still be in the area'
- The psychology: removing the 'offer' triggers loss aversion — the same force that kills deal at the close can also revive a dead lead
- Response rate to the Break-Up text from Day 7+ ghost leads: industry average 15–25% — every 4–6 Break-Up texts generates a re-engaged lead

📋 TRAINER NOTE: The Break-Up text must feel genuine — not like a tactic. If it reads as a manipulation, it backfires. Deliver it with actual warmth: 'I respect your time too much to keep following up if the timing isn't right.'

🎯 ACTIVITY

Activity: Follow-Up Scripting

OBJECTIVE: Write a 3-part follow-up sequence for a ghost lead from start to Break-Up

1. Scenario: homeowner said 'we need to think about it' and hasn't responded to 2 calls in 10 days
2. Write: Day 11 Value-Add Text (utility news or neighbor install — no pressure ask)
3. Write: Day 12 Soft Check-In Email (social proof, easy question: 'Did you have a chance to talk it over?')
4. Write: Day 14 Break-Up Text (Take-Away with genuine warmth + soft hook)
5. Deliverable: A printed 14-day 'Ghost Lead' follow-up template for the field folder

25 MIN

MODULE 7.7

The Referral Engine: Self-Generated Wealth

One Sale Becomes Ten — If You Ask Right

MODULE 7.7 — THE REFERRAL ENGINE

The Most Trusted Lead Source Is a Satisfied Neighbor

1. The Day 0 Referral: asking at the point of sale — before install day
2. The Neighborhood Pod strategy: one signature unlocks 10 neighbors
3. The Referral Partner Network: real estate agents, roofers, accountants
4. The written Referral Ask script for the closing table

The Day 0 Referral: Ask While the Ink Is Wet

- Most reps wait until after install to ask for referrals — this is 4–6 weeks of lost opportunity
- 'Most people wait until the panels are on the roof to tell their neighbors — but why wait to help them save?'
- The Contact List Bridge: 'Can you think of 3 people in your neighborhood who complain about their bill the way you used to?'
- The warm referral has a 4–5× higher close rate than a cold door — and it costs nothing except the ask

DIALOGUE

Rep:
One more thing before I go — most people wait until the install is done to tell their neighbors about this. But here's the thing: the longer they wait, the more they pay. Can you think of 2 or 3 people on your street who complain about their electric bill the way you used to? I'd love to reach out and see if I can help them the same way.

Homeowner:
Oh yeah — the Garcia family next door is always talking about their bill being insane.

📋 TRAINER NOTE: A rep who asks for 3 referrals at every single close and converts 1 of those 3 has doubled their effective volume from the same number of appointments. The referral ask is the highest-ROI activity in solar sales.

The Neighborhood Pod: One Sale Unlocks the Block

- Immediately after a signed agreement, knock the 10 closest houses with the neighbor's name as social proof
- Script: 'Hi — I'm actually working with the Johnson family right up at [address] to bring their electric bill to basically zero. I wanted to swing by while my engineers are already going to be in the area — is your bill running anything like theirs was?'
- This is the highest-converting door knock in solar — local name + real-time social proof = instant credibility
- Goal: get 1 appointment from every 3 pod doors knocked — vs. 1 from every 10 cold doors

📋 TRAINER NOTE: The Neighborhood Pod converts 3× better than cold doors because the name changes everything. The homeowner is no longer evaluating a stranger — they're evaluating their neighbor's decision. And they don't want to be the only one left behind.

The Referral Partner Network: Multiply Your Pipeline

- Real estate agents: every home sale is a potential solar sale — buyers want efficiency, sellers want curb appeal
- Roofers: a new roof is the ideal time to add solar — the penetration is cleaner, the financing is fresher
- Accountants and financial advisors: they advise on energy costs and ITC credits — position yourself as the expert they refer to
- Approach: 'I help your clients reduce one of their largest recurring monthly expenses — and it increases home equity. Every referral you send me improves their financial picture.'

📋 TRAINER NOTE: Build 3 referral partner relationships in the first 30 days. One real estate agent with 4 closings a month = 4 warm solar leads a month from a single relationship. This is the long-term pipeline strategy that separates a $150K year from a $300K year.

🎯 ACTIVITY

Activity: The Johnson Pitch Roleplay

OBJECTIVE: Deliver the Neighborhood Pod door knock using a specific neighbor's name

1. Partner plays a homeowner on the same street as 'the Johnsons' (a just-signed deal)
2. Rep must deliver the Pod opener — name-drop, area relevance, bill question — in under 20 seconds
3. Test: does the homeowner know who gave permission to use their name? Clarify the ethics of the approach.
4. Deliverable: A written 'Referral Ask' script for the closing table — 3 versions: in-person, text, email
5. Bonus round: pitch the Referral Partner concept to the trainer playing a skeptical real estate agent

25 MIN

MODULE 7.8

Personal Brand: The Trusted Solar Advisor

You Are Not the 'Solar Guy.' You Are the Expert.

MODULE 7.8 — PERSONAL BRAND

Your Brand Is Visible Before You Say a Word

1. The Expert Aesthetic: non-verbal closing before the first word
2. Social Proof Assets: your digital portfolio on the iPad
3. Advisor Language: 'We' and 'Us' vs. 'I' and 'You'
4. Your 30-second Professional Introduction — recorded today

The Expert Aesthetic: Non-Verbal Closing

❌ THE SOLAR GUY

- Wrinkled shirt, no name badge, generic backpack
- Old phone, no iPad, printed paper proposals
- Parked car is dirty with fast food wrappers
- Checks phone mid-conversation
- Walks fast, knocks hard, speaks first
- 'I'm selling solar — do you want to hear about it?'

✅ THE TRUSTED ADVISOR

- Clean branded polo, quality shoes, sharp appearance
- iPad in rugged case, crisp proposals, business card ready
- Clean vehicle parked respectfully — it signals professionalism
- Full presence — phone away for the duration
- Measured walk, confident knock, pauses before speaking
- 'I'm auditing energy profiles in your neighborhood — mind if I take 2 minutes?'

📋 TRAINER NOTE: Homeowners decide in 7 seconds whether to trust you. Before you say a word about solar, your attire, equipment, and body language have already cast a vote. Make sure that vote is 'trustworthy expert.'

Social Proof Assets: Your Digital Portfolio

- A dedicated iPad folder: before/after utility bills, neighbor install photos, Google reviews, BBB rating, local press coverage
- Show this folder early in the appointment: 'Let me show you a few families in your neighborhood who made this same call last quarter'
- Homeowner selfies with their installer on install day — the most powerful proof asset you have
- Update the folder weekly: local relevance decays — a photo from 3 years ago is weaker than one from last Tuesday

📋 TRAINER NOTE: The Digital Portfolio converts skeptics faster than any verbal argument. Seeing a familiar street name in an install photo is worth 10 minutes of technical explanation. Build it, protect it, and use it in the first 5 minutes of every appointment.

The Advisor Language: Words That Shift the Frame

- Replace 'I' with 'We': 'We've installed over 400 systems in this zip code' vs. 'I sell solar here'
- Replace 'you' with 'your family': 'What this means for your family is...' vs. 'What this means for you is...'
- Replace 'sell' with 'audit/design/structure': 'I'm going to audit your energy situation' vs. 'I'm going to sell you solar'
- Replace 'sign' with 'authorize/confirm/initiate': 'I just need you to authorize the utility application' vs. 'Sign here'

📋 TRAINER NOTE: Language is the invisible architecture of the sale. Every word is either building a wall or opening a door. The Advisor Frame is built one word at a time, across every sentence of the consultation.

🎯 ACTIVITY

Activity: Digital Portfolio Audit + Professional Introduction

OBJECTIVE: Set up your Social Proof folder and record your 30-second Professional Introduction

25 MIN

1. On your iPad, create a 'Social Proof' folder with at minimum: 3 local install photos, 5 Google reviews, BBB rating screenshot, 1 before/after bill comparison
2. Review with manager — does every asset feel local, current, and credible?
3. Write your 30-second Professional Introduction: name, role, purpose, credibility signal — all in 30 seconds
4. Record it on your phone. Watch it back. Does it sound like a trusted expert or a script?
5. Deliverable: A polished 30-second video introduction — submitted for manager review and kept as a personal benchmark

MODULE 7.9

Final Field Certification: The Full-Cycle Gauntlet

Door Knock to Signed Agreement — End-to-End Mastery

MODULE 7.9 — FINAL CERTIFICATION

- Handle 'Not Interested' or 'I'm busy'
- Set the appointment for same day or next morning
- Pass: Rep earns entry to the kitchen table

🔍 STAGE 2: THE DISCOVERY

📋 TRAINER NOTE: The Full-Cycle Gauntlet is the culminating event of 7 days of training. A rep who passes this simulation is prepared for a real appointment on Day 1 in the field. The Senior Manager plays a realistic, not theatrical, homeowner — genuine objections, real hesitation, no artificial ease.

7-Day Final Certification Scorecard

1–5 pts	Door Knock & Hook	Did the opener earn entry? Was 'Not Interested' handled without arguing?
1–5 pts	Discovery Depth	Was the BOLT type identified? Was the emotional motivation surfaced and confirmed?
1–5 pts	Presentation Clarity	Was the Bill Swap presented at Grandmother Test standard? Was the Bridge delivered cleanly?
1–5 pts	Objection Mastery	Was ACAC visible? Was the real objection isolated before being addressed?
1–5 pts	Close + Referral	Was the Paperwork Pivot natural? Was Step 5 genuine? Was the referral ask delivered?

🎯 ACTIVITY

The Full-Cycle Gauntlet: One-on-One Certification

OBJECTIVE: Demonstrate end-to-end mastery in a live simulation with a Senior Manager

60 MIN

1. Rep enters the room — Senior Manager plays a real-world homeowner (high bill, skeptical spouse dynamic 'Think About It' at the signature line)
2. Rep must complete all 5 stages in sequence — each stage must be passed before the next opens

MODULE 7.10

Graduation & Field Launch

Welcome to the Sales Force. Your First Deal in 72 Hours.

MODULE 7.10 — GRADUATION

The Mission Starts Now

1. The Performance Contract: signing your activity commitments
2. The First Deal Bounty: setting the 72-hour goal
3. The Letter to Your Future Self — opened in 90 days
4. Final words on mission-driven selling

The Performance Contract: Own Your Results

- The contract is not a formality — it is a personal commitment to a professional standard
- Specific commitments: 70 doors/day, 7 appointments/week, 7 proposals/week, daily Nightly Audit, weekly Pipeline Clean-Up
- Signed by the rep. Witnessed by the manager. The copy lives on the rep's clipboard.
- Rule: you cannot blame territory, weather, or timing for results — you can only audit your activity numbers

📋 TRAINER NOTE: The Performance Contract gives reps a standard to return to on their worst days. When everything feels wrong, the contract answers the question: 'Am I doing the activity?' If the activity is there, the results will follow. If it isn't, they know what to fix.

The First Deal Bounty: 72 Hours

- Goal: a signed contract within 72 hours of leaving this room
- The First Deal Bounty: specific celebration and recognition when the first contract comes in
- Support available: Manager shadowing for first 3 appointments, AI simulation for objection review, peer accountability group
- The rep who gets their first deal within 72 hours has permanent momentum — the rep who waits 2 weeks almost always quits in 3

📋 TRAINER NOTE: The 72-hour goal is psychological as much as practical. The first deal proves to the rep that the classroom was real — that everything they learned actually works in someone's kitchen. Nothing builds a career faster than the first signature.

✉ THE LETTER TO MY FUTURE SELF

(Sealed today. Opened in 90 days.)

1. What is the ONE thing I am most scared of walking into the field?

2. What is my financial goal for my first 90 days? (Write the exact number.)

3. What will I do differently than the version of me who walked in on Day 1?

4. What does my life look like if I execute everything I learned in this room?

5. What do I want my manager to say about me at the Day 91 review?

The 7 Laws of the Solar Accelerator Graduate

01 Activity Beats Talent

The rep who knocks 70 doors every day will out-earn the natural talent who knocks 30. Volume is the foundation of everything.

02 Discovery Is the Close

The rep who finds the deepest 'Why' in Discovery never has to force the close. The signature follows the motivation.

03 No Is the Currency of Yes

Collect the No's. Each one is worth $100 toward your next commission. Rejection is not a setback — it is the work.

04 The CRM Is Your Business

Leads that aren't logged are commissions that aren't earned. If it isn't in the CRM, it doesn't exist.

05 Be the Advisor, Not the Salesperson

You are a Certified Solar Sales Closer.

In the last 7 days you learned to read a room, bridge to a close, defeat every objection, rescue every deal, and earn your freedom.

Every family you sit with deserves the version of you that walked out of this room.
